Poem by Uncle John

I like to be modest, regardless of shine—I never was vain of my rep. . . . I don't like to brag on productions of mine, no matter how potent their pep. . . . And so, I'm discrete when I happen to write the news of a social affair—an' I keep my identity clean out of sight, by signin' it, "One Who Was There."

I'm often invited to furnish the muse, when festal occasions demand. . . . I can allers dig up some selections to use, that ain't been messed over, or canned. . . . An' I titter with mirth, jes' to see 'em in print, and 't makes all the frequenters glad, as they read in the paper the pertinent hint, that "Dainty refreshments was had."

I like to record it, when Cupid's success brings on the connubial attack—and I don't overlook, that the bride wore a dress, and the groom "The conventional black!" I'll say it's a wonder—the language we got, to mighty nigh curdle the blood—when we write of a victim which somebody shot, that "He fell with a sickenin' thud!"

UNITY NEEDED

REPUBLICAN party lines are being weakened in Mendocino county these days because of efforts being made to keep in office democrats, who happen to have the friendship of some individual who has been a leader in the party ranks. The rank and file of the Republicans believe in party loyalty and this sentiment will probably be endorsed at Washington. The Republican Press speaks only as a party organ when it insists that when democrats are in power democrats should be placed in office and when republicans are successful to them should be given all positions. This newspaper does not intend to convey the impression the public should have a party man, if incompetent, awarded an office, but it does maintain that, if a capable, deserving republican aspires to office and a civil service commission certifies him or her, by all the rules of politics and party loyalty, the position should be awarded the republican. If the United States Senators who have the favoring of political candidates are being misinformed on the situaiton a petition, signed by republicans who believe in keeping the party together, should be circulated and approved by republicans at once and forwarded on and, in the meantime, the republican county central committee should acquaint the senators with the existing conditions.

HARDING IS CORRECT

PRESIDENT Harding is correct in his size-up of Alaskan conditions. There is nothing the matter with Alaska. Of course money is not as free now as in '98—the days of gold and salmon, but the Northland is still an excellent place to make money. The troube has been in Alaska radi cals have for 25 years been in the majority and most of them want the United States government to coin $20 gold pieces with legs on them so they can sit still and have the gold-pieces run into their pockets. The writer knows Alaska, having lived there for years, and he understands conditions. To start off with, long ago the big commercial companies investigated the coal fields in Westward Alaska and found earthquakes had so broken coal deposites it would not be profitable to work them, but under the Wilson administration it was decided the government would try to do what the hard-fisted corporations knew could not be done. The Alaska operating corporations knew a railroad would never pay, but the Wilson administration ordered one built to Fairbanks—that railroad is going to lose $1,500,000 a year at the very best. In Alaska it is simply a case of the "gots and the ain't gots"—when one set of office holders is in power the other set is "knocking" and the other way round follows, of course. Alaska is a good country and, as President Harding has, on his short visit, found out, more industry and less war dancing will bring about the territory's development.

CUT THE BRANCHES

ANNOYING branches of trees, hanging over sidewalks, continue to disturb pedestrians. The worst feature of the nuisance is that, in the nighttime, the branches cannot be seen until they hit people in the face, disarranging headwear and, at times, strike the eyes. It would require but a few minutes work to cut the branches so they would not hang so low as to annoy those who have to be about.

Naturally everyone wishes to have all the shade possible, but as the drooping branches usually serve no purpose whatever, simply being runners with only a few leaves, the cutting off of the branches will not in any manner decrease the shade the trees provide.

During the coming Pow-Wow many visitors will be here and, as they walk about the streets they will be annoyed, if the trimming is not done in the meantime.

It is such a little task and will provide such real relief to the public, tree owners whose branches extend out over the sidewalk in such fashion as to disturb others should not have to be asked twice to do the pruning.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS

Holbrook Blinn, the actor, was playing an engagement in London several years ago. One afternoon he went out to Epsom Downs for the racing. In the crush at the paddock he was addressed by a Cockney of a slinky appearance:

"Sye, Guvner," said the stranger, "wouldn't you like to buy a diamond scarf-pin h'at a bargain?"

Blinn shook his head and started to move off, but the importuning stranger detained him:

"Wyte a bit, please, Guv'ner," he pleaded, in an eager half-whisper; "don't go yet, you'll never get another chance like this. Hi pledge you me word of honor you won't regret it if you buy this 'ere pin. Pure w'ite stone and a nobby settin'. Worth twenty quid, if hit's worth a penny. And yours for four pound."

Interested in spite of himself by the insistent one's eloquence, Blinn said: "Well, haul it out and let's see it."

"Hi ain't git it wiv me—yet, but hi can give you a look h'at it."

"How can you give me a look at it if you aren't carrying it with you?" asked the puzzled American.

"Turn your 'ead slow, Guv'ner," said the Cockney, sinking his voice still lower. "See that fat bloke yonder wiv the gray coat on?" He pointed a cautious finger. "Hit's in 'is necktie!"

AIRPLANE CUTS OFF LAKE COUNTY POWER AT HOPLAND

An airplane taking up passengers at Hopland ran into a 11,000 volt wire, thus cutting off the power to Lake county for several hours. The aviator was taking up the two Dooley boys at the time of the accident. The aviator, it is reported, noticed the high line as he was leaving the field. In trying to avoid this wire he failed to notice the heavier one until he had struck it. Luckily everyone escaped uninjured and the plane was only slightly damaged.

INDIANS SORROW OVER THE PASSING OF AN OLD FRIEND

Speaking of the funeral of the late Michael Donohoe the Mendocino Beacon has the following bit of sentimental reference to an incident which took place at the time: No more touching tribute could have been paid deceased than was shown by the Indians of this section, who, after the funeral, when all had left the cemetery, came from far and near and placed flowers on the grave of one who had been one of the first white friends they had ever known and who through all the intervening years had still been their friend. They did not attend the funeral; they did not wish any display. They simply desired in an unostentatious way to show their affection for a departed friend. Some of the older Indians held to the custom of the early days and to the last called Mr. Donohue, "Brother." Hardly one of the old coast families that was not represented at the funeral and to give a list of those who attended would be like calling off the names of all the old coast families and adding a number of new ones.

Notice of Enclosed Lands

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500) will be paid by the owners of the McNab Ranch for the arrest and conviction of the person breaking the locks and gates on the fence surrounding the McNab Ranch.

In view of the repeated and flagrant violations of this character, as well as other aggravated trespasses,—many being committed by aliens—we are reluctantly compelled to notify all persons that the McNab Ranch has been made an enclosure as provided in the Penal Code of California; that it is surrounded by a wire fence, and that there is not a foot of vacant government land within the entire enclosure.

WILL BE DELAYED

C. E. Shackelford, who planned opening a shoe repairing business on State street, will not be able to hold his opening as soon as he intended, as sickness in the family will necessitate Mr. Shackelford remaining in Santa Rosa some tim eyet, probably.
